It is held during the two Muslim Festivals of Eid el-Fitr and Eid el-Kabir, in the ninth month and the twelfth month of the Muslim calendar respectively every year. The Emir is the central figure in every procession and there is no proxy or representation. If he is absent the Durbar will not hold. The Emir's Contingent is in the center and primarily made up of Palace courtiers, officials and bodyguards. His Chiefs with their contingent are characterized by specific dress codes and their order of processions is based the participation of their ancestors. The Chiefs of the nobility proceed first and chiefs of the royalty proceed after the Emir's Contingent. There are four distinct processions for specific purposes with different costumes and timings. Each procession begins with gun salute from one of the three gates of the Emir's Palace and terminates in a different gate with gun salute. They are: Hawan Sallah (first day in the morning) to attend the Muslim prayer; Hawan Daushe to honor Emir's mother (second day in the afternoon); Hawan Nassarawa to pay homage to Governor (third day in the morning and ends at noon), and Hawan Panisau or Dorayi to acknowledge homage from subjects (fourth day whole day event).
